Introduction

The goal of this machine is to provide an infrastructure for unofficial architectures until they are integrated in the main Debian archive. This way porters could spend their time porting packages instead of fighting with the infrastructure.

It provides:

- a repository to host packages and CD images
- a wanna-build database
- a web interface to the build logs
- a DNS hosting service
- a POP server for build daemons behind NAT

m68k's unstable archive and wanna-build is now hosted on ftp.debian-ports.org. It was previously hosted on ftp.debian.org.

Mon, 21 Apr 2008 13:41:29 +0200

During the last week-end, debian-ports.org has been moved to a new machine, which is faster and has a lot more disk space. The IP address has changed but the DNS records have been updated, so as long as you don't
